In Memory of Lance Hooley

Crash fatality shortened the life of Lance Hooley, an incredible human being

[COVINGTON, TN, September 1, 2018]

The aviation world lost an incredible pilot today. Lance Hooley was a life-long aviator; professionally as a commercial airline pilot, and he was a builder/owner/pilot of many experimental aircraft throughout his life, including the JetEze which he was flying when it crashed on September 1, 2018 outside of Covington, Tennessee.

Lance was a member of The Jet Guys team, based in Covington Tennessee, where the crash occurred. The Jet Guys design, build, repair, and maintain Canard based airplanes and jets.

“Lance is a good friend, he will be missed every day. I will strive to live a life as complete as his.”
Robert Harris, Founder, The Jet Guys

“Lance was an outstanding pilot and one of the finest human beings we’ve ever known.” Ryszard Zadow, Founder, Rutan Aircraft Flying Experience

The Federal Aviation Administration, Tennessee Emergency Management Agency, and the Tipton County Sheriff’s Office are investigating the crash.

We ask that you respect the privacy of Lance’s wife, family, and friends, including the team at Jet Guys, as they strive to recover and heal from their loss.

Jet Guys is based out of Covington, TN and design, build, repair, and service Canard based airplanes and jets.
